Break O' Day: Earlier than Pritchard. Outstanding for its maturity, smooth, uniform, globe-shaped fruits and resistance to wilt. Plants are large, producing an abundance of medium sized, bright red fruit with thick walls, small seed cavities and splendid flavor. Is recommended for home and market.

Pritchard or Scarlet Topper: Certified and wilt-resisting. Fruit matures very early. Large, smooth, meaty, globular in shape and ripen uniformly to a deep attractive red color, both exterior and interior. This variety is an enormous producer, and therefore requires rich or liberally fertilized moist soil.

Bonnie Best: This is one of the best scarlet tomatoes now in use. It matures very early. It is very prolific, and we recommend it as a first class tomato to market gardeners.

Stokesdale: One of the leading canning tomatoes, and is considered one of the leading shipping varieties. Is of a heavy yield and matures earlier than a Marglobe.

Marglobe (Wilt Resisting): A scarlet fruited variety. Originated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for wilt resisting. It is claimed to be also resistant to nail-head rust, which attacks tomato fruits. Fruits are of medium size, smooth, solid, and deep from stem to blossom ends.

Rutgers: Produces a large plant with an abundance of foliage to protect the fruit from sun scald. The fruits are medium to large, similar in shape to Marglobe, but more flattened at the end of stem. The seed cavity is small, the color is fine red, which extends clear through. Unsurpassed for market, canning or juicing. Second early in maturity.

Greater Baltimore: A main crop—productive red fruited variety. It is known as the best canning tomato. We grow large quantities of this variety for canning factories.
